

PHILOSOPHY
(specialty 09.00.13)

Biryukova Ju.A. Soviet state and church during the years of 1920-1930s: the character of relations at places (according to the materials of Rostov region archives)

It is considered the relations of the Don region and North-Caucasus territory state systems that held politics of the Soviet authority towards the church, church communities and religious population in 1920s-1930s. The author outlines the situation, tends to trace the dynamics appeared within the sphere of such interaction in terms of social and political peculiarities of the region. It is defined the methods of authority's influence on the religious views of the population. The majority of sources that are used in the work are introduced into the scientific sphere for the first time.

Key words: Soviet state, legislation, Orthodox church, church and state separation, anti religious propaganda, religion, "tikhonovtsi", split, renovation, Gregorian church.

Pedagogical institute
Southern federal university

November, 27, 2009

Brachoun T.A. The sources of ethnic tolerance of native minor population in the North (on the example of the Chukchi people)

It is analyzed the reasons of the Chukchi people's high level of tolerance. It is underlined that the ethnic tolerance tends to comprehend other cultures positively. It is pointed out the stages of acculturation of the Chukchi people with typical of them characteristic features and dominant strategy.

Key words: ethnic culture, ethnic tolerance, stereotypes, autostereotypes, heterostereotypes, assimilation, integration, separatism, segregation.

North-Eastern
state university

November, 17, 2009

Vakhrusheva E.Ju. The formation of the scientific approach to the problem of art specificity in the Russian culture science during 20-30s of the XXth century

It is discussed the question on the scientific approach to the problem of the socialistic art specificity. Within the Soviet period the attitude to "artistic taste" is referred to the "artistic law" requiring deep analysis and concretion nowadays. The formation and the usage of this approach is connected with the process of self-affirmation of the Soviet art at that time. Its comprehension is directed to the materialism and dialectics in the perception of artistic creative work and is a complicated way to the methodological height in the "taste grasp". Revolutionary art of this epoch reflects its individuality that is embodied in the artistic position towards objective reality.

Key words: art, Soviet art, Soviet period, artistic taste, Marx and Lenin analysis.

North-Caucasus
scientific center of HS SFU

December, 15, 2009

Kapoustin N.S. The stages of philosophy of religion development

It is given a brief description of religious problems the core of which is philosophy of religion, it is formulated the new definition of the supernatural. It is analyzed the main stages of philosophy of religion formation that allows to decide more deeply the problems of spiritual revival and moral refinement of society and personality during our post-Soviet period.

Key words: religion, supernatural, spirituality, Absolutes, faith, religion evolution, transcendence.

Southern federal university

December,16,2009

Kovalev V.V. The crisis of the value system of modern Russian elite: philosophic aspect

The value elite crisis is characterized by the lack of value orientations from the direction of which depend the society development as a whole and the elite in particular. Beginning with the 90s of the XXth century the dominant value was consumption. Nowadays in terms of industrial and banking crisis the increase of consumption is extremely impeded. Because of this there is a crucial need in value patterns and models that explain the way the values can be realized.

Key words: value, elite, value system, spiritual crisis, value orientations, political values, value patterns.

*Pedagogical institute
Southern federal university*

December,21,2009

(specialty 09.00.08)

Bouryakova O.S. Information revolution within the process of social and economic development of society

The main stages of civilization development are analyzed that present corresponding information revolutions. Within the development of society the amount of information grows. Knowledge touched new spheres of life, became more detailed and deep. Each information revolution has social contents as the process of informatization actively influences all the bases of human being. The regular information revolution proves that the invention of new technologies will lead to deep and profound social and economic changes in society.

Key words: information, civilization, technological revolution, information revolution, information communications, society.

South-Russian university of economics and service

November,15,2009

ECONOMICS
(specialty 08.00.05)

Aleinova A.A. The necessity in investment attractiveness assessment of companies of the industrial type

It is defined the meaning of investment attractiveness of industrial companies including companies of chain structures. Nowadays the assessment of investment potential of an industrial company plays an important role in taking investment decisions, especially in terms of different financial crises.

Key words: investment attractiveness, industrial company, investment potential, financial strategy of the industrial company.

Moscow state university of technologies and management

December,5,2009

Tantsevilov V.V. Agricultural complex of Rostov region as a segment of the world market

It is analyzed the reproduction base of the agricultural complex of Rostov region; discussed the dynamics of gross yield and price data of grain, their impact on the development of food and processing industries. It is assessed the character of export of consumer goods and it is underlined that partially got production is a third part of export delivery. It is offered to analyze the branch of AIC as a point of economics growth of the region.

Key words: agricultural complex, export of consumer goods, agricultural production.

North-Caucasus scientific center of High school SFU

December, 7, 2009
