

LAW
(specialty 12.00.01)

Tipalo E.E. The main tendencies of Russian social chamber participation in lawmaking process

It is analyzed the main forms of Russian social chamber participation in lawmaking process. According to the held complex social analysis of its place in lawmaking process, influence of social expertise of law projects on the realization of the idea of people's representatives in this social institution. Lawmaking process is considered as a complex and many-sided initiative and social control of Russian citizens. It is analyzed the possibility of realization of people's lawmaking initiative through social institutions in general, and Russian social chamber in particular by means of creating social expertise that becomes one of the most effective forms of civil participation in lawmaking process in terms of local self-management system reforming.

Key words: lawmaking process, social chamber, legislative authorities, law project, social expertise.

Don
pedagogical college

June, 18, 2011
