

PEDAGOGY
(specialty 13.00.01)

Soygir N.N. Peculiarities of modern family as social sphere from the viewpoint of competent approach

In the article the problems of forming social child skills of the seventh year of life in family and preschool education are considered. There is a review of basic approaches for dealing with the family as a necessary component of social structure. The necessity of psychological and education support for families of pre-school educational institution in shaping the social competence of parents and children was substantiated.

Key words: family functions, socialization of the child, social competence, psycho-pedagogical support.

Southern

federal university

August, 17, 2012
