

ECONOMICS
(specialty 08.00.05)

Tretyachenko T.V.* Knowledge infrastructure – institute of competing market formation of the human capital

In the article the role of stabilizing the system of social infrastructure in the reproduction of human capital is considered. It is given the costs on the social infrastructure, the mechanism of recovery of costs for the preparation of high-quality human capital. It is shown the extent of the demand for various public bodies in the formation of new institutions of knowledge infrastructure, the creation of innovative structures, functioning on the principles of openness, connecting together the joint efforts of state and public organizations, and individual elements of educational institutions to the quality of training at all levels of the educational system. The paper analyzes the ability of the infrastructure of the educational environment in terms of the interaction between universities and enterprises in various sectors of the economy, improving the adequacy of the education market labor market.

Key words: knowledge infrastructure, institutionalization, labor market, educational logistics.

Rostov state

economic university

December, 8, 2012
