

LINGUISTICS
(specialty 10.02.19)

Kopyl D.A. Communicative-and-pragmatic structure of modern English scientific text

The article is devoted to the problem of the communicative and pragmatic structure of modern texts in English scientific literature and its persuasive influence upon the reader. It reveals some specifics of the main blocks as components of the substantial structure of scientific texts: introductory, main and concluding ones, including both informational and pragmatic aspects of the contents.

Key words: scientific literature, communicative and pragmatic blocks, persuasion, communicative and pragmatic structure of scientific texts.

Southern federal university. Rostov-on-Don, Russia

August, 19, 2013
