Dudnikova L.V. Elliptical constructions within asyndeton structures in Russian and French

Quite often in journalism there are such asyndetic composite sentences one of which parts is presented by incomplete, or elliptic, sentence. The article is devoted to the elliptical constructions as a part of the asyndetic structures. The existent approaches to the interpretation of ellipsis in Russian and foreign linguistics are considered. A special attention is given to the types of ellipsis in Russian and French: partial, absolute, syntactic, semantic etc. The textual and connecting role of incomplete sentences is determined.

Key words: ellipsis, incomplete sentences, asyndeton, text, discourse.
