

LAW

Kushnarev A.P.

(Novosibirsk agrarian state university. Novosibirsk, Russia)

The causes and conditions that cause resistance to criminal prosecution for offences relating to the improper performance of his professional duties by health professionals

The article examines the causes and conditions that contribute to counter the prosecution in criminal cases on crimes related to the improper performance of medical workers of their professional duties and caused death or injury to the patient. Using the method of ascent from the abstract to the concrete, stands total complex of reasons, as well as determinants causing as committing medical errors and probable prosecution opposition from the medical profession.

Key words: countering criminal prosecution, criminogenic determinants, medical errors.

January, 14, 2015
