

PEDAGOGY

Chernyakova M.M.

(Russian Presidential Academy of National Economy and Civil Service. Novosibirsk, Russia)

Modernization of education through creation of system of early professional self-determination of pupils in the educational organizations

In article need of creation of system of wounded professional self-determination of pupils within modernization of education in the general education organizations is described. Now there is a prompt transition of the Russian society to new forms of economic activity which in turn led to increase of need of the state in initiative, enterprising, competent and responsible experts. In preparation of such experts the important role belongs to the educational organization, therefore professional self-determination of pupils – the socially significant section of education.

Key words: modernization, educational organization, professional self-determination, risks, effects, network interaction, conditions for realization, additional education, professional education, system.

January, 15, 2015
