

LINGUISTICS

E. Yu. Pishkova

(Southern federal university, Rostov-on-Don, Russia)

Measure of translation errors and ways of its prevention

The article discloses the concept of a translation error, refers to classifications of translation errors and the problem of identifying their types on the basis of imperfect students' translations; the article offers ways to minimize and prevent translation errors. The author also touches upon the reasons for making translation errors, the basic of which are connected with speech incompetence and insufficient knowledge of both source and target languages. A special focus is put on translation errors being a perfect didactic material for creating a special course while preparing future translators.

Key words: translation error, classification of errors, speech incompetence, student-translator, source language, target language.

April, 20, 2015

---