Extremism as a threat of constitutional safety

It is considered the problems of counteraction to extremism in modern Russia as one of the threats to the safety of the constitutional order. Extremism is one of the most dangerous forms of violation of the stability of the constitutional system of modern Russia, which is caused not only by domestic factors, but also by the worldwide trend of globalization and the threat of international terrorism. In order to counter extremism there is a need for more effective measures to restrict the rights and freedoms of men and citizens, to curb the abuse of the freedom of thought and speech, of expression, the right to receive and disseminate information.

Key words: extremism and restrictions on the rights and freedoms of men and citizens, safety of the constitutional system, freedom of thought and speech, freedom of expression.
