

PEDAGOGY

Y.V. Saiko

(Chelyabinsk state pedagogical university, Chelyabinsk, Russia)

Career orientation peculiarities of bachelor-degree students of Pedagogical University

It is discussed some of the theoretical aspects of career and career orientations of undergraduate students receiving pedagogical education. The results of empirical research are analyzed and interpreted and the formation of career orientation dynamics among students of science and humanities department is traced. At the end of diagnostics the comparative analysis in choice of career orientations in three different departments has been done.

Key words: career, career orientation, subject-activity approach, the need.

November, 12, 2015
