

PHILOSOPHY

Kalimat M. Alilova

(Dagestan state university. Makhachkala, Russian Federation)

Ecological education as basis for new ecological civilization formation

It is considered the relevant topic of human survival in the XXIst century. The issue of ecological civilization as an opportunity for the continuation of the human race on Earth is considered, the meaning of which is that people change their way of life for the harmonious development of nature and society. For this, the ecologization of the entire education system is necessary, which involves strengthening the integral interaction of natural and humanitarian knowledge, strengthening the humanistic component of the educational process.

Key words: ecological civilization, ecological education, eco-ethics, eco-citizens, ecological obligations.

April, 19, 2017
