

PHILOSOPHY

Petr A. Ponomarev, Andrey M. Rudenko, Alla P. Ponomareva

(Institute of service sphere and entrepreneurship (branch) Don state technical university. Shakhty, Russian Federation)

Man, nature and society in XXI century: through ecologization of education in ecological culture

There exists the necessity of creation of effective system of formation of ecological culture of the person in conditions of the XXI century. It has been analyzed various approaches to the definition of environmental culture and it has been shown its importance and role in the process of human interaction with nature, substantiated new approaches to the organization of environmental education in higher education, determined its direction, content, forms and methods.

Key words: ecology, ecological culture, ecological education, ecological problems, nature, society, person, formation, education.

June 4, 2018