On the issue of adaptation of Indian students in the framework of the program to improve the quality of educational services at Rostov State Medical University

Improving the quality of educational services in the higher education system is carried out as part of integration projects. The formation of the necessary competencies for foreign students from India is a continuous process of solving non-verbal, behavioral, and urgent tasks by means of the studied Russian language, leading to the expansion of the boundaries of communication, readiness for flexible interaction in the process of inculture. The promotion of Russian educational services on the international market and the training of competitive foreign specialists requires the organization of the process of adaptation of students – a complex process of changing the relationship of the individual with the environment, its integration into a new society.

Key words: cultural shock, adaptation, inculturation, socialization, monitoring ring, quality of educational services.
