

PHILOSOPHY

Svetlana V. Yushina

(Don state technical university. Rostov-on-Don, Russian Federation)

Intellectual violence as one of the reasons of world female suicide terrorism

It is considered intellectual violence as one of the causes of female suicide terrorism. The author of the article suggests evaluating female suicide terrorism, taking into account many factors, including economic, ethnic, religious, historical, social, psychological. The author emphasizes the reasons for the entry of women into terrorist activity. Based on various points of view on this issue in the scientific literature, the author is of the opinion that women are used in terrorist acts as a living weapon through violence. Particular attention is given to intellectual violence. After all, this form of violence is paid little attention from a scientific point of view, but it takes on increasingly dangerous forms. It was intellectual violence against women over the centuries that did not allow the formation of a full-fledged female personality. In his work, the author concludes that it is not necessary to reduce the entire angle of view of this problem to “violence and aggression in society”, this is not the main, and even more than the only factor in the emergence of these antisocial feelings and emotions. But it should be not discounted the fact that such a manifestation of aggressive behavior is one of the defining signs of modern culture.

Key words: women's suicide terrorism, recruitment of women to terrorist organizations, violence, intellectual violence, the gender aspect of terrorism.

---

March 17, 2020