

PEDAGOGY

Maria V. Smagina, Vyacheslav A. Berkovsky Larisa A. Tronina

(Stavropol State Pedagogical Institute. Stavropol, Russian Federation)

Professional and ethical requirements for the teacher: pedagogical aspect of the study

It is justified that it is impossible to talk about the pedagogical process outside the specific requirements for the teacher. The content of a teacher's professional activities depends on what beliefs, views, norms and rules of conduct the teacher will have. The development of a general education institution objectively puts forward the need to develop scientific requirements that a teacher must meet. According to the authors, it is impossible to improve his professional activities without identifying and creating a kind of specialist model in which these requirements would be expressed.

Key words: personality, consciousness, culture, training, education, pedagogical activity.

April 12, 2021
