Modern world transition to expertocracy: socio-philosophical analysis

It is considered the possibilities of the transition of the modern world to expertocracy as a form of organizing the power of specialists employed in a narrow field. The factors contributing to the power of experts are analyzed. The essence of expert activity and the social effect expected for the organization of power are revealed. The polyvariant nature of the modern world, which is in a "post-industrial state", is noted. The forms of participation of experts in power practices are specified. The trends that impede the transition to expertocracy are represented. In conclusion, the results of the study are summed up and summarized.

Key words: power, expertocracy, modern society, knowledge, transformations, state.
