

PEDAGOGY

Konstantin S. Kotov, Anastasia A. Slukina, Anastasiya S. Martynova

(Far Eastern federal university in Ussuriysk (School of Education), Ussuriysk, Russian Federation; Primorskiy state agricultural academy, Ussuriysk, Russian Federation)

Use of authentic teaching method in training graduates of higher education institutions

It is considered the method of authentic education from the point of view of its use in a higher educational institution to form the competencies and skills necessary for students to realize future professional competencies and that may be relevant in everyday life. The scientific novelty of the study consists in the analysis of authentic materials and the isolation of subject and personal goals that are possible to achieve, through the use of authentic material. The result of the study is the development of a task system aimed at developing cognitive thinking activities of students and the formation of professional communicative competence.

Key words: authentic education; authentic material; method of using authentic material: how to teach a foreign language; authentic intellectual activity.

March 5, 2022
