Pedagogical tolerance as a fundamental principle of the humanistic concept of education

Humanistic education is considered as a system of views that proclaims the value of a person, his right to freedom, happiness, development and manifestation of his abilities. The defining principle of humanistic pedagogy is tolerance, which is defined primarily as a tolerant attitude towards all participants in the educational process. One of the aspects of the practical implementation of the principle of tolerance in the educational process is the correction of mistakes, and the effectiveness of teaching and the student's self-perception directly depend on the correction techniques used by the teacher.

Key words: pedagogical tolerance, humanistic education, the type of pedagogical tolerance, a favorable pedagogical environment, self-correction, mutual correction.
