

PHILOSOPHY

Vadim N. Goncharov¹, Olga Yu. Kolosova², Elena A. Yurinok³

(^{1, 2} Technological Institute of Service (branch) Don State Technical University in Stavropol, Stavropol, Russian Federation; ³The North Caucasus Federal University, Stavropol, Russian Federation)

Features of culture in modern society

The patterns and features of the interaction of culture and society in modern social processes are established. The article reveals the features of the 21st century society, as well as their impact on the content of modern culture and its forms of manifestation. The modern period of civilizational development is extremely multifaceted and dynamic. The natural and social environment, the material and spiritual components of human existence are changing. It is shown that as a result of human activity, there is a change in the multistructural systems of the world order, which generates various levels of complexity and contradictions, including in the cultural and social sphere.

Key words: culture, civilization, personality, consciousness, knowledge, information, values, social norm, socio-cultural relations.

January 5, 2026
