

PEDAGOGY

Maria V. Marchenko

(Rostov branch of the Russian Customs Academy, Rostov-on-Don, Russian Federation)

Topical problems of improving the speech culture of students in the context of “educational culture” formation within the discipline “Russian language and speech culture”

The article analyzes the works of domestic and foreign authors reflecting modern pedagogical concepts based on a competence-based approach and aimed at studying the conditions for improving the quality of education. It is emphasized that the research of German scientists focuses on the formation of the "learning culture" of students as a tool for managing the quality of education. It is shown that educational technologies focused on self-organization, responsible learning and the development of personal potential of students serve as an effective means of improving the speech culture of a linguistic personality.

Key words: quality of training, continuous education, educational culture, speech culture, competence-based approach, self-organized training, self-development.

November 10, 2025
