Information and communication technologies in the modern system of socialization of adolescents with disabilities

The problems and trends in the use of information and communication technologies that ensure effective socialization of adolescents with disabilities are analyzed. It is noted that the creation of a favorable socio-cultural environment is of fundamental importance in the process of their socialization. The use of the latest technologies contributes to the formation of public opinion aimed at creating a stable image of adolescents with special needs as an equal category of citizens of our society. It is emphasized that the work of this format involves the active inclusion of various media resources in the process of highlighting the problems and opportunities of adolescents with disabilities.

Key words: socialization, adolescents with disabilities, information and communication technologies, socio-cultural environment.
